DILIGENT PROBE IS URGED BY HARDING

Neglect of Wounded Soldiers To be Probed by Dawes Committee

Assurance of Speedy Inquiry Given by Dawes

(By Associated Press)

Washington, April 5.—President Harding today asked his special commission headed by Chas. G. Dawes of Chicago, to make "diligent inquiry" of government department heads in an effort to find out just where the government agencies have been "lacking in authority, neglectful or failing in caring for disabled service men."

He also asked that investigation be made of "the abuses which have developed."

The commission chairman who read the statement from the President announced that Mr. Harding's wishes would be carried out to the letter and that the inquiry would not be directed into controversial or extended subjects.

Mr. Dawes told the commission that it was known that "a deplorable situation exists" and that the President and Congress were anxious to remedy it.

"The condition exists," he declared, "because of lack of co-ordination among the agencies authorized by law to care for the soldiers. Something must be accomplished. We will find the remedy and stay in continuous session until we do. The men on the other side worked at night. This relates to them. Let's cut out the dinners and get down to definite work right now."

Mr. Dawes said the commission's hearings should be concluded by Saturday night and the commission then begin its executive sessions to draft recommendations for submission to the President.

MAYORS ACTIVE AND WILL NOT BE DISMISSED

(By Associated Press)

Columbus, O., April 5.—Don V. Parker, state prohibition commissioner, announced today that formal action would not be taken against mayors of two Ohio cities for failure to enforce prohibition laws in view of the fact that they have inaugurated campaigns for law enforcement.

He said the name of the cities in question would not be made public. He said the warning given these officials had had the desired effect.

BRIAND PRAISES LOYALTY OF U. S.

(By Associated Press)

Paris, April 5.—Premier Briand paid a tribute to the loyalty of the United States in resisting "insidious overtures by Germany" in the Senate this afternoon and served notice that if Germany continues to resist payment of the reparations after May 1, France will lay a strong hand upon her neck.

Henry de Jouvenel, chief editor of the Matin, declared that if President Wilson had intervened at the end of July, 1914, he could have prevented the war.

VIVIANI HONOR GUEST AT WHITE HOUSE DINNER

(By Associated Press)

Washington, April 5.—Rene Viviani, now on a mission to the United States as an envoy extraordinary of France, was the guest of President and Mrs. Harding at a dinner given in his honor at the White House tonight.

Ambassador and Madame Jusserand, Myron T. Herrick and others were present at the dinner.

In a statement to the Associated Press today, M. Viviani indicated that he had not yet abandoned the treaty of peace as a basis of discussion with American officials.

While the former French premier has made it plain that he has offered no suggestions which could be interpreted as an attempt to influence the foreign policy of the United States it is known that he has not yet been convinced that the conclusion of a bare separate peace by the United States with Germany would best afford France that "moral support" which it is his mission to obtain.

U. S. REPLY TO GERMANY CAUSES A REAL SHOCK

Find No Room For Optimism On America's Stand on Reparations

Press Expresses Deep Disappointment

(By Associated Press)

Berlin, April 5.—German newspapers which comment today on the communication from Secretary of State Hughes regarding the reparation question, are almost a unit in expressing disappointment. They find in it no basis for the optimism which had been professed in some quarters that the U. S. would support Germany financially or give her moral backing to secure a revision of the indemnity demands and the carrying out of the restitution provision of the peace treaty.

THREATS MADE BY NEGROES AT DALLAS, TEXAS

(By Associated Press)

Dallas, Texas, April 5.—Anonymous letters were received by local newspapers and the sheriff of Dallas county today stating that an organization of negroes had been formed here under the name of the "black K. K. K." to retaliate for the whipping of Alex Johnson, negro bellboy, last Friday night by members of the white K. K. K.

The latter threatens death to any white man who attempts to molest negroes. Sheriff Harston said he did not regard the letter seriously.

TRANSPORT WORKERS CONSIDER A WALKOUT

British Center Interest on Action Of Transportation Workers

Executive Committee to Present Recommendations Wednesday

(By Associated Press)

London, April 5.—For 3 hours this morning, the four hundred delegates of the National Transport Workers' Federation, assembled here to consider the attitude of the organization toward the strike of the British miners, debated the strike question without reaching a decision.

The conference adjourned shortly after noon until 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. This afternoon the national executive board of the transport workers continued consideration in secret session of the question of joining the miners in their strike.

The executive body will probably have recommendations to offer as to the transport men's attitude at tomorrow's plenary session of the delegate body.

Meanwhile there has been no deviation from the uncompromising "fight to the finish" attitude which apparently has been taken by the three parties to the controversy, the miners, the owners and the government. From representatives of each there have been declarations of a willingness to make any reasonable concessions in order to avert a general industrial tie-up, but no one thus far has volunteered to take the first step toward a resumption of negotiations.

PLANTATION HEAD IS FACING CHARGE IN GEORGIA CITY

(By Associated Press)

Covington, Ga., April 5.—John S. Williams, Jasper county farmer, charged in the confession of his negro farm boss, Clyde Manning, with having caused the murder of eleven of his negro farm hands to prevent evidence against him for alleged peonage, faced trial in circuit court here today on a charge of murder of one of the slain negroes.

An augmented force of sixteen deputies had been mobilized to preserve order in the court room and arrangements made for a capacity crowd. Selection of a jury was expected to occupy most of the first day's session.

ANSWER OF U. S. PLEASES FRENCH

(By Associated Press)

Paris, April 5.—The reply of the United States to Germany on the reparations question has given the greatest satisfaction to French officials circles where it was regarded as finally closing the door to all escape by Germany from meeting her liabilities under the treaty of Versailles.

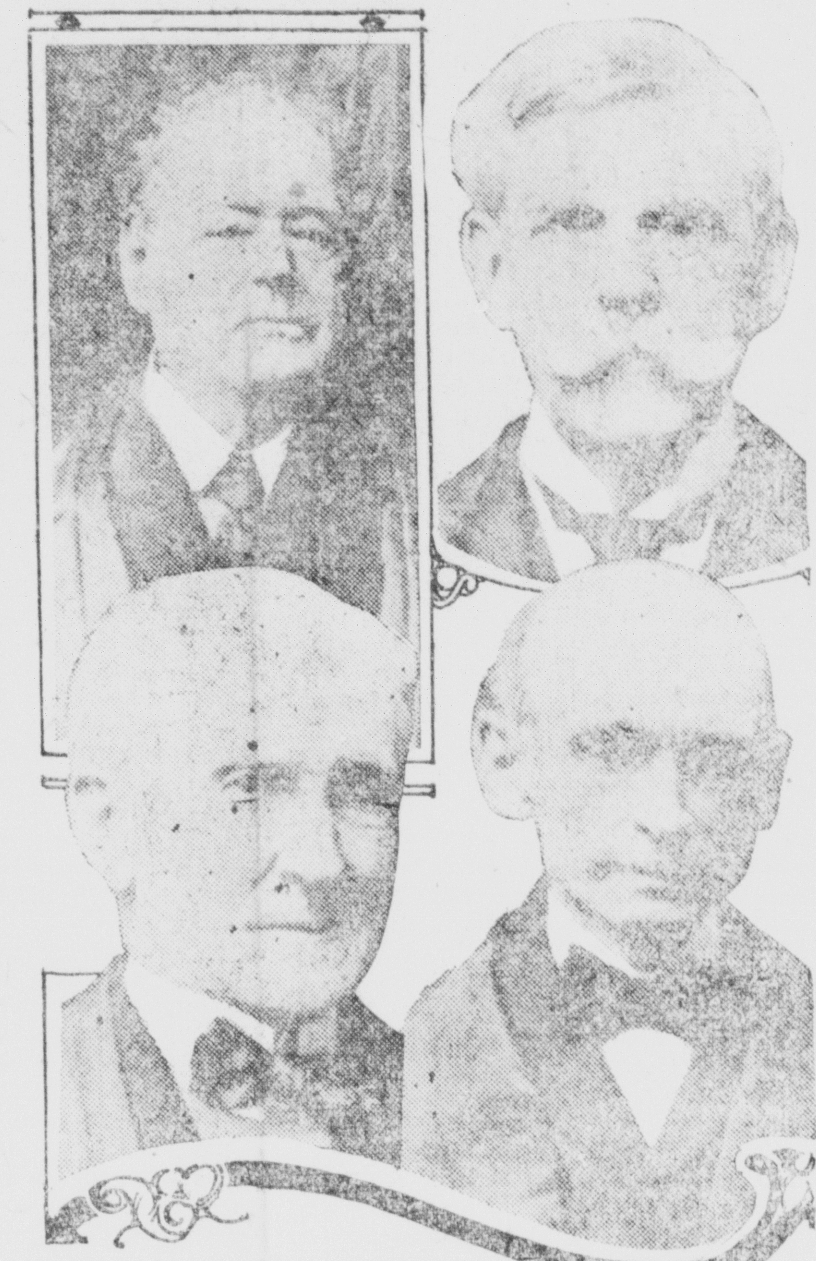

Premier Briand was expected to make an allusion in a speech in the Senate this afternoon to this and other matters of interest to the United States.

BRITISH CLAIM AMERICAN VIEW INCONSISTENT

Question of Rights in Mandate Territory

U. S. Policy in Mexican Oil Fields Cited

(By Associated Press)

London, April 5.—American contention for equality of treatment for the citizens of all nations in mandated territories are held by the British government to be scarcely "consistent" with the attitude of the United States toward American oil interests in Mexico.

The British view is expressed in a long reply to Secretary Colby's note of November 20th, which was made public here today. The note, signed by Lord Curzon, secretary of States for Foreign Affairs, was delivered March 11th and was in answer to Secretary Colby's exceptions to the San Remo agreement between Great Britain and France relating to petroleum resources in Mesopotamia.

That agreement Lord Curzon said was not fully understood it appeared, adding that it "aimed at no monopoly or exclusive rights."

DEFECTIVE IS TO BE HELD FOR DOUBLE MURDER

Will be Indicted or Found To Be Insane

Said to Have Killed Parma School Teachers

(By Associated Press)

Cleveland, O., April 5.—Indictments charging first degree murder or a recommendation that a warrant in insanity be issued were expected from the county grand jury late today against a mental defective held by police since Thursday in connection with the slaying of Louise Wolf and Mabel Foote, Parma school teachers, last February.

The suspect who has confessed the crime and rehearsed it several times at the scene of the murder was taken before the grand jury this morning.

Admission that bloody shoes of the suspect had been burned on the night of the murder has been made by the man's relatives. Detective Banks declared today. The relatives however, denied this, but Banks was positive in his statement on the question.

CADDOCK RETAINS LIGHT-HEAVY TITLE

In a match watched by 4000 fans at Memorial Hall in Columbus Monday night, Earl Caddock, light heavyweight champion wrestler, retained his title by throwing the challenger, George Kotsonaros, after two hours and 24 minutes of grappling.

Kotsonaros, the Cretan mat man, who is well known here, made a gallant attempt but he was not able to match the championship work of the westerner. The Greek was a victim of a head scissor and arm lock.

Kotsonaros is the first man of Caddock's weight to stay with him more than two hours.

Paul Bowser met John Kilonis, of Norfolk, Va., in the roughest match ever staged in Columbus. It was a thirty minute draw.

A number of fans attended from this city.

Telephone and telegraph lines are prostrated throughout the southern part of the empire. Tokio is still in darkness and a number of houses were destroyed here.

The storm was especially severe in the harbor at Yokohama. Belated dispatches received from the provinces report inundation in many prefectures, and it is said many houses were demolished by the wind.

STRIKING MINERS IN SCOTLAND MIX WITH THE POLICE

(By Associated Press)

London, April 5.—Rioting broke out tonight in connection with the coal strikes in Cowdenbeath, in Fifeshire, Scotland, according to a Central News dispatch.

The police attacked the strikers with baton, but the strikers hoisted the red flag and besieged the police station. The situation is assuming a critical aspect the dispatch says.

The trouble arose when the strikers captured the undermanager of the mine who refused to cease manning the pumps.

The police responded to a call for aid and rescued the man, but they were surrounded by the miners whose forces had by this time increased to thousands.

HARDING WILL TAKE TIME FOR PEACE MOVE

Abandoning Hope of Using Versailles Treaty is Claim Made

Not Committed to Any Definite Policy

(By Associated Press)

Washington, April 5.—President Harding is not committed to any definite program with regard to a congressional declaration to declare the state of war with Germany at an end.

While the President voted for the Knox resolution when he was a member of the senate and spoke favorably with regard to it in his address of acceptance, he is understood to feel that there is no occasion for precipitate action at this time.

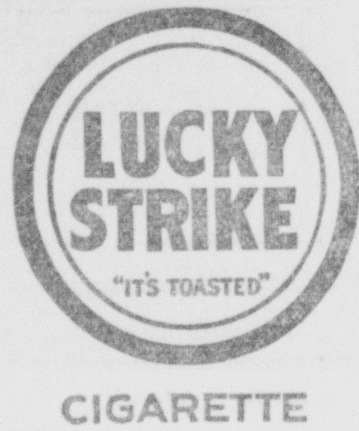

The President's views with regard to the peace program are expected to be made known at the opening session of the new Congress which he may address in person. Meantime it is known that the President and his advisers are growing more and more convinced that there is no practical way to consider the Versailles covenant.

YOUNG GIRL FINDS RELIEF

Wants to Tell Other Girls All About It

Evansville, Ind.—"I am eighteen years old and have been bothered for several months with irregular periods. Every month my back would ache and I always had a cold and felt drowsy and sleepy. I went to work in a millinery shop and I went to work every day, but felt stupid and would have such cramps. I had seen Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and had heard several women talk of it, so mother got me some. This Vegetable Compound is wonderful and it helped me very much, so that during my periods I am not sick or drowsy. I have told many girls about your medicine and would be glad to help anyone who is troubled with similar ailments. You may use my testimonial as you like."—STELLA LINXWILER, 6 Second St., Evansville, Indiana.

Some girls lead lives of luxury, while others toil for their livelihood, but all are subject to the same physical laws and suffer in proportion to their violation. When such symptoms develop as irregularities, headaches, backaches, bearing-down sensations and "the blues," girls should profit by Miss Linxwiler's experience and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

GREAT THROG OF FRIENDS PAY FINAL TRIBUTE TO J. D. POST

All Business Suspended in City During Funeral of Former Congressman.

Church Inadequate to Hold Large Number Attending Funeral Rites.

Great Mass of Flowers Form Bower About Casket.

A great throng of people paid fare well tribute to James D. Post, former congressman from the seventh district, prominent attorney, business man and politician of this city in the funeral services conducted by Rev. J. L. McWilliams of Wilmington in the First Presbyterian church of which Mr. Post had been a member, Monday afternoon.

Stores, factories and schools had honored Mr. Post by closing and the people of town and county poured in to the church in one steady stream for almost an hour before the service began, autos lining both side of the streets for many blocks.

The Fayette County Bar attended in a body, as did the members of the War Council and the B. P. O. E.

The Court of Appeals in session here adjourned for the day and the three Circuit Judges were in attendance together with representatives of the legal profession of other cities.

It was a gathering, which in itself, paid highest homage alike to the man of large affairs and the man of every day interests—the simple, kindly friend, always obliging and capable, never too busy to do a favor, whose death was mourned in all sincerity by the great assembly.

The ceremonies were of simple dignity and beauty, touching brief reminiscence the career that had brought to him honor and success.

Mrs. B. F. Davis played softly while the flowered covered casket was borne down the aisle to rest amidst a mass of rare floral tribute, which covered the pulpit, platform and filled the chancel.

Rev. McWilliams conducted the services with the sympathetic appreciation which is always so helpful at such times.

Following the reading of scripture passages and prayer, Judge Joseph Ridy, a close friend of Mr. Post, directed the following appreciation: James Douglass Post, born November 22, 1862. Died April 1, 1921.

This is the legend that will be graven on his tombstone. These are the dates carved on the monuments, placed by the God Terminus, that fix the limits of our friend's mortality. The beginning and the end of a life. Twin mysteries!

For us who approach the latter limit stunned by the sudden taking off of one who walked and labored at our side through a large part of a life-time it is hard to escape a sense of futility. It is difficult to frame a satisfying answer to the question: What is it all worth; what does more or less of years, of achievement, of success signify?

We know that sooner or later in the most successful life, the challenge comes; the things that we valued and strove for, fall from us, our laurels wither, our loves and resentments grow cold, the places that knew us know us no longer, and year by year our memory fades from all the circles of the hills.

Yet even so, our fellowship in the common lot of humanity prompts us to set down the annals of a career that is ended, and testify our appreciation of the qualities of our friend.

Mr. Post was born on a farm near Milledgeville in this county. His parents were Abraham and Eliza Jane (McCoy) Post. His whole life was spent in this community. He acquired the rudiments of his education in the little red school house which, sitting on every roadside, has done so much for the people of America. He finished his formal schooling at The National Normal University at Lebanon, Ohio, and thereafter taught in the schools of this county for five years, during which time he studied law at night, and was admitted to the bar in 1887—and immediately began the practice of his profession in this city. In 1893 he formed a partnership with C. A. Reid which continued for twenty-eight years, and was only dissolved less than two months before his death by the election of Mr. Reid to the Common Pleas Bench of this county. Mr. Post's career at the bar was an enviable one. He early acquired the confidence of the community and the respect of the bench, and his associates. For many years he enjoyed a lucrative practice and at the time of his death had, undoubtedly the largest clientele of any lawyer in the county.

In 1910 he was elected to Congress from this, the 7th district of Ohio, and served two terms in that body. Through industry, thrift and sound business judgment he accumulated a comfortable fortune—a large part of which was invested in farm lands in this county, the management, cultivation and improvement of which was one of the chief pleasures as well as one of the principal cares of his later years. He was a public spirited citizen—liberal with his purse, his time and his talents in response to the demands of civic duty. During the World War he was a member of the War Council of the county, and his labors for what he considered not only the cause of his nation, but the cause of civilization, knew no distinction of day or night.

In 1885 he was married to Mrs. Mary J. Sulder, who with one son, Claude Post, an attorney of Columbus, Ohio, a grand-daughter, Marjorie, and a step-daughter, Mrs. Effie Leland, to who he was a second father, survive him.

It were an ungracious task to attempt to appraise the merits of our friend; it is a pleasure to express our appreciation of his fine qualities. Better than any other of his associates the members of the bar whose professional duties brought them into daily contact with him, know that these were. We knew him as an able, diligent, resourceful and honorable antagonist in legal battle; almost genial, kindly, democratic spirit in the intercourse of daily life. I should not classify him as a man who saw visions and dreamed dreams. He kept his feet upon the ground. The most characteristic quality of his mind was practicality. He did not invest in blue sky, either his money or his efforts. His ideals were those of the enlightened but hard-headed business man; but in his contact with the world, he was not a hard man, just the opposite. He was quickly and deeply moved by any story of misfortune, and he was roused to righteous indignation by injustice and oppression wherever he saw it. He was a most democratic man. A plain man of the people through all of his life. He never became the Hon. James Douglass Post; he was plain "Dug" to his hosts of friends and acquaintances. He had in his nature no element of the pharisee. His judgments of men, their motives and conduct were tempered by the spirit which makes allowance for us all.

The stress and anxieties of the great war brought to light some of his most admirable qualities, roused in him a patriotic fervor almost religious. It stirred him to the profoundest depths of his nature. It engrossed his every waking thought, and he responded with enthusiasm to every demand upon his time, his strength and his fortune. He represented in a superlative degree the spirit of the great American people which was ready to dedicate every man and the last dollar to the cause of patriotism and righteousness.

To us of the bar, into whose daily life his personality was so closely interwoven, years to come will never be quite the same. Especially to us who have grown old along with him, at our every assemblage will come a brooding sense of loss. Taken in the full strength of his mature manhood, "With all his senses full of eager heat And rosy years that stood expectant by, To buckle the winged sandals on their feet."

We are apt to cry out against the wisdom and justice of his taking off. Surely long years of usefulness lay yet ahead of him. But it is not for us with our feeble breath to rail against the decrees of the Eternal. It is not for us with our feeble intelligence to penetrate the inscrutable, and justify the way of God to man.

"When toil-crooked hands are crost upon the breast, They comfort us with sense of rest; They must be glad to be forever still; Their work is ended with their day; Another fills their room; 'Tis the World's ancient way Whether for good or ill; But the deft spinners of the brain, Who love each added day and find it gain, Them overtakes the doom To snap the half grown flower upon the loom (Trophy that was to be of lifelong pain) The thread no other skill can ever knit again."

"Twas so with him, for he was glad to live, 'Twas doubly so, for he left work behind; Could not this eagerness of fate forgive Till all the allotted flax were spun? It matters not; for, go at night or noon, A friend whenever he dies, has died too soon."

After the memoir Rev. J. L. McWilliams taking as his text, "Lord, I pray thee to open his eyes that he may see," brought out very beautiful the thought of the need of open vision and the courageous heart, and offered much of comfort to the family in the thought of the light of immortality as it reveals those things to which earth is blinded.

So accustomed are Americans with their ideas of Democracy to think in terms of the masses, that the people do not stop to think that it is men as individuals who have done all that is worth while in the pages of history—those things which have been evolved through the striking personality and genius by the men of large vision, who looked at life from the broad standpoint and allowed the trivial to pass unnoticed; who saw things in proper proportions. Such a man the minister stamped, James D. Post—a man who refused to be the victim of circumstances or environment—rather the victor, by his indomitable will developing God-given talents to the full measures of success in his profession, business and political career.

Mr. Post carved a life of great usefulness, activity its dominant note but in spite of all his large business interests, his influence and capability there came a time when these earthly things all lost their charm and he began to look beyond for those of the eternal.

The minister spoke with much tenderness of the home ties, the memories of the husband, father and grandfather and the associations which would be cherished and brought a message of comfort to those who sorrowed. He closed his brief talk affectingly by repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Hundreds accompanied the family to the Washington cemetery for a committal service in through which golden sunshine poured benediction and spring breezes stirred tenderly the fragrance of the budding earth.

The pallbearers were Judge Charles A. Reid, Messrs. Clark, Post, Tasso Post, M. S. Daugherty, Ben F. Jamison, Henry Brownell.

Among the great profusion of beautiful flowers there were special designs from Fayette County Bar, The Fayette County War Council, The Midland National Bank, The Commercial Bank, The J. W. Willis Lumber Company, The Fayette County Bank, The P. Hagerly Shoe Company, The County Board of Elections, The Christian Science Church, The Orman Motor Company, The Elks Lodge, The Ohio Fuel Supply Company, The D. T. & I. local freight office, Springfield, The G. W. Baker and Company.

Among those who were present from a distance were the son, Mr. Claude Post, wife and daughter, Marjorie, from Columbus; daughter, Mrs. T. E. Leland, and Mr. Leland, Springfield; Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Hare, a sister of Westerville; Messrs. John and Ed Post and Miss Blanche Post, half brothers and sister, of Milledgeville; Mr. William Post, Greenfield; Mrs. Wm. Costello and Mrs. C. burgman Springfield; Judge Fenned of Dayton; Judge J. R. Alford of Columbus; Judge Kunkle, of Springfield; Judge Abernathy, of Circleville; Attorney John B. Phillips and wife, Attorney John Poland, of Chillicothe; Attorney Wm. B. Rogers, of Wilmington; Attorney James Morton, Sabina; Mr. J. P. Kellough, Urbana, and large numbers from Milledgeville, Mr. Post's early home; Jeffersonville, Bloomington, Ocala, New Holland and through out the county.

Card of Thanks

The family of the late James D. Post acknowledge with deep appreciation the many kindnesses shown during Mr. Post's illness and death and also desire to extend thanks for the beautiful floral remembrances.

Couldn't Come Back

The attempt of ex-Emperor Charles to regain possession of his throne in Hungary resulted as it was doomed to result, from the start, in failure.

The former Emperor of Austria and King of Hungary, doubtless has more knowledge of conditions and the temper of the people, than he had before the attempt to "come back" was made, but it is doubtful if the knowledge is any comfort to him.

It should be, however, because now Charles Hapsburg knows just where he is hitched. If he hadn't made the attempt he would always have been handicapped with the hope that, if he did try, there was a chance to regain his throne.

Now he can go to work, if he can find a job, disillusioned. He knows, beyond all doubt, that being emperor and king is only a memory for him.

With it all, too, the world feels a little more secure because we didn't know just how the people would react to the comeback attempt.

Of course it was a foregone conclusion that the allied and associated nations would not allow Charles to seize the Hungarian throne, but it is much better that the people of Hungary themselves have turned down the claims of the last of the Hapsburgs.

The fate which overtook King Charles cannot fail to exert a wholesome influence in directing into more practical channels the thought and activities of that other ex-ruler, one William Hohenzollern, now sojourning indefinitely in Holland.

William Hohenzollern's dreams of a "come back" cannot be so real after what happened to Charles.

The world enjoyed the little thrill and feels better too, for the result.

Plans to Spend Money

Notwithstanding the necessity for economy in the administration of the affairs of the nation and the state—each one of the states and all of the states, but especially, so far as we are concerned, here in Ohio—it is amazing the number of entirely new projects, contemplating large expenditures, that are suggested and seriously urged by our legislators and executives.

One of the latest of the new projects to be urged is that Ohio should own residences in Washington to be occupied by our United States Senators. The pay of our Senators, it is argued, is inadequate to maintain them and house them properly.

Well, it would be proper and dignified for the state to provide residences in Washington for our Senators, but having gone along for so many years without doing so, it does seem inopportune to take up the subject now when the municipalities of the state are practically bankrupt, when the people are staggering along under the burdens of federal taxation and insisting on relief from those burdens.

Of course it is not going to solve all the financial troubles of the state to reject the proposal to purchase Washington residences for our Senators, but that proposal is one of many involving expenditures, and it is the grand aggregate of those expenditures for unnecessary but desirable proposals which causes the present financial pinch.

The trouble with most individuals nowadays is that they can devise "needs" without number to spend money and yet are apparently unable to give a thought to plans for eliminating expenditures.

If the same ingenuity, industry and thought was applied to cutting down expenses in public affairs results in lower tax rates would soon be noticed.

Some people in Ohio will contend that it would be objectionable for the state to own residences for its senators in Washington, but all will agree that public finances are not now in condition to take up seriously the proposal.

POETRY FOR TODAY

"HOW FAR FROM HOME?"

"How far are we from home?"
Throughout his living
So close was he to God's eternal plan,
His simple life was one of lavish giving,
Of loveliness unto his fellow-man.

The blossoms kissed the air with sweeter fragrance
And smiled in beauty of a brighter hue.

The lowly weed, stay wanderer of vagrance,
Beneath his magic touch was born a new.

Not far from home was he, who, ever turning
To that perfection clustered in his soul,
Made God's own secrets arts, with eager yearning
Toward the Wonderland, Elysium's goal.

He only paused a while to strew his flowers
Across life's often dreary vestibule.
By some strange alchemy of sun and showers
He proved existence of a Higher Rule.

"How far are we from home?" he asked beguiling
The fears of friends who thought he did not know
That even then he saw the Master smiling
And heard Him say, "'Tis but a step to go."

TEN YEARS AGO

Herald News This Date 1911

Violin connoisseurs will be interested in learning that there is one man in Washington who possesses a genuine Stradivari, for which he has refused $1,800.

The owner of this rare instrument, more priceless with the passing years, is Mr. H. A. Wyman with the Washington Gas and Electric Company, a member of the orchestra at Grace Church as well as the Wonderland Orchestra.

The violin has been pronounced a genuine "Strad" by the music firm of Wurlitzer and Company, of Cincinnati.

Mother Falls Unconscious

"My mother, who is 69 years old, has been troubled with her liver for 35 years. Doctors said she had gall stones. Several times she fell unconscious because of these attacks. Eight months ago, I noticed an advertisement of May's Wonderful Remedy in the Toledo Blade and purchased a bottle, which did her a great amount of good. She continued the treatment and has left entirely well since." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal trouble, including appendicitis. The next meeting, which will be held on the evening of May 2, was set apart for the Mite-box opening and this will be an event of unusual interest.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Martin Hughey was a delightful hostess to the children of the Beginners' grade of the Sunnyside school, honoring the birthday of her charming daughter, Susan Jane.

Mrs. Hughey was assisted by her little daughter, by Miss Elizabeth Skinner and by the teacher, Miss Agnes Kerrigan, in serving the fifty-two children present with home baked cake and brick ice cream.

Two immense cakes with pink icing, one a round birthday cake with seven pink candles were the center of attraction.

Miss Katherine Mae Schmidt, of Springfield and Miss Ruth Evick, of Columbus, were out of town guests. This was one of a series of parties given at intervals by the mothers of the beginners, that has given great joy.

Recently Mrs. Leota Mallow served ice cream and cake to the school in honor of her little daughter, Dorothy Jane.

Miss Opal Moore, a popular member of the Sedalia High School corps of teachers, entertained the members of senior class, and other teachers of the corps, at her home on the Chillicothe pike Saturday evening.

The spacious Moore home with its large room is especially adapted to entertaining, and dancing was very popular with the guests. Games and contests also enjoyed.

The guests especially enjoyed lingering in the attractive sun parlor, which has just been completed, its ivory finish in perfect harmony with the wicker furnishings.

Miss Moore carried out the class colors gold and brown very effectively in the decorations of spring flowers, and the particularly delicious collation served.

Mrs. Joseph Lowden, of Columbus assisted Mrs. A. L. Moore and her charming daughter in the hospitalities.

Twenty-five members of the M. H. G. Class of the First Presbyterian Church found cordial welcome awaiting them at the home of Mrs. George Worrell on Van Deman avenue, Monday evening. Mrs. J. E. Magley, Mrs. P. M. Cook and Mrs. Arthur Burgett sharing with Mrs. Worrell in the honors of hostesses.

Spring flowers gave added cheer to the home, and the evening was delightful throughout.

Dainty refreshments were served.

The Daughters of the American Revolution held a curtailed meeting at the Club rooms late Monday afternoon, postponed from the regular hour owing to the funeral services of the late Hon. J. D. Post.

There was a short business session after which Mrs. Annette Rowe, Regent and Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, delegate, gave most interesting reports from the State D. A. R. Conference held in Toledo, on April the twenty-second.

It was felt to be a special privilege to have at this conference Mrs. Maynard Minor, President General of the National D. A. R. and her corps of officers.

Mrs. William McGhee Wilson, State Regent, of Xenia, made a fine presiding officer.

The thought was specially brought out as the key note of the conference that the phrase "a hundred per cent American" is not a new phrase—the Daughters of the American Revolution have kept alive in the hearts of the women of the country a patriotism which always stood for a hundred per cent.

The social hour was delightful, with a delicious collation served by the hostesses, Mrs. S. E. Boggs, Chair- man, Mesdames Jackson, Waddell, Briggs, Morris, Rowe, Woodward, Misses Jackson, Lanum, Pine, Briggs. Spring flowers were lovely in the big room.

One of the most pleasurable surprises of the season, was given by the Priscilla Bible Class in honor of their teacher, Mrs. Orland Toops, Monday night. There were about fifty members of the class present.

TARVIA PAVING
IS CONSIDERED
BY CITY COUNCIL

*New Method Of Improving
Streets Apparently Meets With Much Favor.*

Dayton Avenue Citizens Object to Paving at Present Time.

At the regular session of the city council, Monday night, Tarvia paving was the chief topic under discussion, and as a result a number of streets may be paved with Tarvia—which is nothing more or less than stone and bit mixed instead of asphalt as previously planned.

Forest Mack introduced C. L. Converse of Dayton, Ohio, who explained the cost and wearing qualities of Tarvia and asked that a committee be named to go to Middletown where many streets were paved with Tarvia and had been subjected to many years of traffic.

The cost of Tarvia, he asserted, could be about one-half the cost of asphalt, and would last just as long and be much easier repaired. He stated that the leading streets in Washington, D. C., and many other important cities were constructed of Tarvia.

Frank M. Kennedy also praised Tarvia, its wearing quality being demonstrated on many state highways. He stated that Market street would require little work before the Tarvia was applied.

Tom Hillery addressing the council, stated that East Market street, from Forest street eastward had long been neglected, and that the residents of that part of Market street desired proper improvement. He spoke of the deplorable condition of the street at the present time and the necessity for improving it.

Member Brownell stated, after a motion had been made to have the service committee go to Middletown to inspect the streets, that he was familiar with Tarvia streets, and was ready to vote for such a street whenever the property owners indicated they wanted it, saying that he was convinced it would make a good street. He also suggested the need of uniformity of street paving.

Engineer Jacobs said that specifications were ready on Oak street, he suggested Tarvia be tried out on the street and then if found all right, other streets be paved with the material.

Engineer Jacobs also stated that there was adequate material on Market street, North to Forest, for a good foundation for Tarvia, and that east of Forest street considerable new material would have to be applied. He recommended narrowing Market to forty feet east of Forest street, saying that the total cost then would be about the same as for surfacing the street west of Forest.

The whole question was referred to the service committee for report at the next meeting.

Don't Want Paving Now
After Engineer Jacobs had made mention of Dayton avenue with a view to paving, President Veal announced that property owners along Dayton avenue generally do not want paving this year, and suggested that this street be dropped off of the paving program for the time being.

Mayor's Report.
Mayor Dahl's report for March showed $332.50 in fines; $23.00 in costs and $38.00 in licenses.
Suggests Broadway.
Engineer Jacobs suggested that Broadway be paved with Tarvia. It was suggested that if Tarvia was de-
